My work primarily revolves around livestreaming, often involving several design skills & technologies. You could call me an IT & AV engineer, but overall, I am a generalist with a user-focus. I am not a programmer, but I can solve some problems involving code. I am best at being a bridge, an explainer, and a communicator. That's why I am currently leading an overseas dream-team of software engineers for the more technical projects that I source and close myself. [All These] are clickable hyperlinks to show examples.
